

*H*istoric preservation is an important part of our cultural heritage. History gives us insight into our past. Books are written, stories are handed down from old to young, poems are recited and songs are sung to days gone by to preserve precious memories and tell the story of our American past, see it with your own eyes, touch it with your own hands and experience it with all your senses. The View Point Inn is such a special place – a step back in time. And now you can become a part of the Inn’s rich and colorful history forever with steps into the future. You can literally be a part of a pathway for other generations to come and stroll along while visiting The View Point Inn.
